

Our Six Houses:

Connon: named in honour of Helen MacMillan Brown and associated with the colour white

Deans: named in honour of Jane Deans, and through her the spirit of early Canterbury pioneer women, and associated with the colour yellow

Harper: named in honour of Henry Harper, the first Bishop of Canterbury, and associated with the colour red

Rolleston: named in honour of William Rolleston, instrumental in the establishment of Christchurch Girls' High School, and associated with the colour blue

Selwyn: named in honour of Bishop Selwyn, an early constitutional and Māori affairs lobbyist, and associated with the colour green

Sheppard: named in honour of Kate Sheppard, an inspiring and leading suffragist, and associated with the colour purple.

...Tradition is Alive